

What we are looking for?

- Race Engineer to run International GT Open and GT World Challenge Endurance incl. all official tests

Which personal skills do you bring?

- English skills of level C1
 - German skills are good but not required
- Several years of experience in GT3 racing
 - Experience with the Mercedes AMG GT3 are good but not required
- Teamplayer
- You can lead, motivate and organize your team

Which technical skills do you bring?

- Technical education in form of a technical degree in mechanical engineering or similar
- Advanced skills with HH timing
- You are familiar with different technical and sporting regulations of different race series
- Advanced skills in vehicle dynamics, race car setups not only in theory but practically as well
- Familiar with Bosch Systems (RaceCon, WinDarab)
 - It is not required but you must bring experience with any data acquisition system

What do we offer?

- Toolkits
 - HH Data Management
 - Advanced and developed based on our needs
 - KPI analysis, inventories for tyre and brake management, pressure calculation, automated data feed
 - GetSpeed Race Tool
 - Standalone program to generate automated reports based on data input from HH Data Management
 - HH Timing
 - Strategy Software to support you with race management and strategy decisions
 - Exchange Drive
 - All race events are cloud based stored which offers the event preparation, trackside operation and post event processing all in on place
- Engineering Workshop
 - You will get a workshop to introduce all tools and the processes to you
- Organized team structure, hierarchy and race events
- Reliable and state of the art tools
- Professional working environment

What do we expect?

- You run a car for a full season in the series
- Mercedes AMG exclusive
- Event preparation and post event reporting in a given timeframe
- You are reliable and you look for a medium term partnership